Keith, George, 1639?–1716.
The true copy of a paper given in to the Yearly meeting of the people called Quakers, at their meeting-place in Grace-church-street, London, 15 day of the 3d. month 1695. By George Keith, which was read by him in the said meeting, by their allowance. With a brief narrative of the most material passages of discourse betwixt George White-head, Charles Marshal, and George Keith, the said day, and the day following, betwixt George White-head, William Penn, and Francis Canfield on the one side, and George Keith on the other; wherein is laid open their most unfair, unjust and unchristian
